PROJECTS

Short News app

02/2024 | Latur, Maharashtra

• I developed a dynamic web project that serves as a news website.

• For the frontend, I utilised HTML,CSS and Java Script to create an appealing and user-friendly interface. On the backend, I implemented JavaScript to handle data retrieval and interactions. The project integrates a News API to fetch and display live news updates.

•The website is organised into various categories, allowing users to easily access news articles specific to their interests.
